The Anglicization of European Lexis

Walter de Gruyter

This study examines the use of prefabricated language (conventional lexical collocations) in the production of native and non-native writers of English. It first develops a framework for the description of restricted collocations and then reviews experimental research into the psycholinguistic processing of prefabricated language. Computer-based corpora of native and advanced non-native academic writing are analysed to discover to what extent and how such collocations are used in formal written English.

Pedagogical implications are then considered, and the final part of the study examines the selection and presentation of restricted collocations in general and phraseological dictionaries for learners. The conclusion suggests that advanced learners need specialist collocational dictionaries, and the results of this research help to establish principles for the design of such dictionaries.

Au septième ciel Editions Bréal

This study is based on an analysis of videos and transcripts of five films Fric-frac, Circonstances atténuantes, Le Jour se lève, La Règle du jeu and Hôtel du Nord. These films are examples of planned and artificial language. The book looks at the evidential value of these data and assesses the extent to which stereotyped and scripted language can contribute to an understanding of spoken Parisian usage by looking at phonetics, syntax, discourse, lexis and pragmatics. By comparing traditional research carried out by scholars in the nineteenth century and earlier with Parisian data collected and analysed by twentieth-century researchers, the work attempts to identify the salient features that both script-writers and actors in these films considered to be characteristic of social-group differences at that time.

Byron and Latin Culture consists of twenty-three papers, most of which were given at the 37th International Byron Conference at Valladolid, Spain, in July 2011. An introduction by the editor describes in detail the huge influence which the major Latin poets had on Byron: his borrowings, imitations, parodies, and echoes have never been catalogued in such detail, and it becomes clear that many ideas central to Don Juan, in particular, derive from Ovid, Virgil, Petronius, Martial and the other great classical writers. There are substantial sections on the ways Byron was influenced by, and in turn influenced, the literature and art of France, Spain, Italy, and other nations. Contributors include John Clubbe, Richard Cardwell, Madeleine Callaghan, Alice Levine, Itsuyo Higashinaka, Olivier Feignier, Katherine Kernberger, and Stephen Minta.

A Spectrum of Lexicography Walter de Gruyter

Tu me fends le cœur, revenons à nos moutons, le dindon de la farce, ça vous gratouille ou ça vous chatouille ?, c'est mon avis et je le partage... Autant d'expressions, de citations ou d'allusions littéraires devenues courantes, sans qu'on sache vraiment d'où elles proviennent. Pendant un an, Jean Claude Bologne s'est amusé à relever dans les livres, les journaux, à la radio, à la télévision, quelque 700 allusions littéraires. Il nous en donne l'origine, citations et références à l'appui, et retrace pour notre plus grand plaisir les détournements complices, savoureux ou impertinents que ces mots d'auteur suscitent dans les médias ou dans notre langage quotidien. Bien vivantes, libérées de l'entrave des guillemets, les allusions littéraires ont traversé les siècles et révèlent notre goût pour les clins d'œil culturels et le jeu avec les mots. Un voyage divertissant au cœur de notre patrimoine littéraire.

This book offers a new perspective on the cultural politics of the Napoleonic Empire by exploring the issue of language within four pivotal institutions - the school, the army, the courtroom and the church. Based on wide-ranging research in archival and published sources, Stewart McCain demonstrates that the Napoleonic State was in reality fractured by disagreements over how best to govern a population characterized by enormous linguistic diversity. Napoleonic officials were not simply cultural imperialists; many acted as culture-brokers, emphasizing their familiarity with the local language to secure employment with the state, and pointing to linguistic and cultural particularism to justify departures from which what others might have considered desirable practice by the regime. This book will be of interest to scholars of the Napoleonic Empire, and of European state-building and nationalisms. Dictionnaire Franco-anglais Et Anglois-français, an Abrege, Par A. Boyer ... Première Partie [-second] Springer

The first part of this volume, La Francophonie ou l'éloge de la diversité, is devoted to "Francophone cinema, between Bollywood and Hollywood." What in particular does Francophone cinema have to offer compared with American or Indian cinema? What more does Francophone cinema have to offer? What genres does it prefer? For what audience? The second part deals with the promotion of diversity in Francophone countries, taking into consideration the cultural aspects of Francophonie in the 21st century, the linguistic description of systems in contact, tracing the historical stages which have led to the creation of this locus of cultural diversity, and focusing finally on university cooperation and Franco-British scientific research. This book brings together contributions by outstanding authors who gathered in Oxford in October 2010 at the Maison française, including: Louis-Jean Calvet: Professor at the University of Provence. In collaboration with the Organisation Internationale de la Francophonie, he works on language policy, particularly the struggle to maintain linguistic diversity. Bernard Cerquiglini: Rector of the Agence Universitaire de la Francophonie. An eminent linguist and specialist on the French language, Bernard Cerquiglini is known as the "Professor" from TV5 Monde's Merci Professeur! Philippe Lane is the Cultural Attaché at the French Embassy in London. Gudrun Ledegen: Sociolinguist, Lecturer in Linguistics at the Université de la Réunion. She specialises in contact between French and Creole in La Réunion. The discussion is complemented by contributions by Maryse Bray, Karine Chevalier, Anne-Caroline Fiévet, Hélène Gill, Amélie Hien, Gaëlle Planchenault and Alena Podhorná-Polická.

Dictionnaire commenté des expressions latines Penguin

Die Arbeit an den drei Bänden dieses Wörterbuches wurde 1932 in London begonnen und ist in ständiger Fortsetzung auf den jetzt vorliegenden Stand gebracht worden. In seinem Aufbau und in der besonderen Anordnung des Stoffes erstrebt das Werk, einem doppelten Zweck zu dienen: Besonders leichtes und schnelles Auffinden eines Stichwortes in möglichst vielen "fertig vorbereiteten" Verbindungen und möglichst wirksamer Ausschluß von Übersetzungsfehlern, besonders wenn zwischen mehrfachen Bedeutungen desselben Stichwortes gewählt werden muß. Im Verfolg dieser Ziele ist das Werk im wahrsten Sinne aus der Praxis entstanden. Dementsprechend ist es auch für die Praxis als Nachschlagewerk für den Alltagsgebrauch bestimmt. An seiner Schaffung haben Menschen des Berufs- und Geschäftslebens mit praktischen Erfahrungen mitgewirkt. Der Entwicklung der drei Sprachen folgend, wurde der Text durch Aufnahme neuer Fachausdrücke und Wendungen bedeutend erweitert und auf den neuesten Stand gebracht. Hierbei wurden auch die im Bereich der internationalen Organisationen - insbesondere der Europäischen Gemeinschaften - entwickelten und gebräuchlichen Ausdrücke und Begriffe miteinbezogen. Les allusions littéraires Associated University Press

This collection presents a balanced yet vivid picture of many of the domains of activity of lexicography. Ten contributors from eight countries discuss monolingual dictionaries (for learners and native speakers), bilingual dictionaries, an original approach to computer-aided lexicography, and the use of lexical material in language teaching. The collection of data; the inclusion, exclusion and ordering of material; definition and translation; and the provision of adequate information about grammatical valency, these are among the special topics treated, with many examples of the problems encountered and suggestions as to how they may be solved. A general introduction highlights the shared concerns that characterize the international discipline of contemporary dictionary-making.

Dictionnaire d'étymologie française John Benjamins Publishing

This volume explores the lexical influence of English on European languages, a topical theme with linguistic and cultural implications. It provides an extensive introductory background to a cross-national view of English-induced lexical borrowing, posing crucial analytical questions such as what counts as an Anglicism. It also offers a typology of borrowings with examples from the languages represented: Armenian, Danish, French, German, Italian, Norwegian, Polish, Serbian, Spanish, and Swedish. The articles in this volume address general and language-specific issues related to the analysis and collection of Anglicisms, extending the scope to the largely unexplored area of phraseology and bringing new insights into corpus-based and corpus-driven methodologies. This volume fits into a well-established and constantly developing research field and will appeal to scholars interested in the spread of English as an international language, contact and contrastive linguistics, lexicology and lexicography, and computer corpus lexicography.

History of the Language Sciences / Geschichte der Sprachwissenschaften / Histoire des sciences du langage. 3. Teilband Peter Lang

Dans son engagement public comme dans sa vie personnelle, Jean-Guy Talamoni est un militant de la langue corse. Un proverbe l'affirme, " Pensa a lingua, mortu u populu " (perdue la langue, mort le peuple). C'est contre une telle issue que veut modestement œuvrer Jean-Guy Talamoni, en participant à la sauvegarde du patrimoine linguistique corse. Quel meilleur terreau que celui qui a nourri ses propres racines ? Le travail de Jean-Guy Talamoni a pour cadre le village de A Petra, dans la pieve de Verde, berceau de sa famille. Avec patience et passion, il a réuni des centaines d'expressions de la vie quotidienne. Certaines sont déjà connues grâce aux travaux de Fernand Etori, ou encore de Carulu Dumenicu Santoni. D'autres sont inédites. Les connaître, c'est apprendre de la Corse et sur la Corse... À travers cette étude linguistique, le lecteur se voit offrir un peu de l'âme corse, dévoiler les chemins secrets de son histoire et éclairer sa longue marche à travers les siècles. Au fil de la lecture, toujours passionnante, de ces expressions venues de la nuit des temps insulaires, monte l'idée d'une Corse qui refuse l'anéantissement.

Hic et nunc, panem et circenses, alea jacta est, veni vidi vici, mens sana in corpore sano : autant de bribes de phrases latines dont on connaît rarement la source ou le sens exact et qui sont cependant bien vivantes. Orlando de Rudder présente la traduction et l'origine de 200 citations, locutions et expressions latines de l'Antiquité et d'aujourd'hui, leur référence et leur contexte d'emploi (historique, religieux, etc.). Chaque notice est l'occasion d'un commentaire souvent impertinent, parfois coquin, toujours libre qui, par des chemins de traverse, mène le lecteur à la découverte d'œuvres littéraires ou d'anecdotes amusantes. Un dictionnaire fait pour le vagabondage, dans lequel on a plaisir à se perdre, sans y perdre son latin.

The volume contains 37 papers originally presented at the 8th International Conference on Historical Linguistics in Lille, France. The papers bring historical data to bear on issues in theoretical linguistics, both descriptive and diachronic or deal with specific questions in the history of individual languages. The theoretical issues range from phonology over morphology and syntax to the lexicon, as well as questions of historical dialectology, language contact, the theory of linguistic change, and problems of comparative reconstruction. The languages discussed are Finno-Ugric and Indo-European, most of the papers dealing with Germanic and Romance languages (especially English and French), but some being devoted to Greek, Celtic, Slavic, and Hittite.
