 NirV, The Books of the Bible for Kids is a 4-volume abridged Bible study that strips the Bible of its chapter and verse numbers, headings, and special formatting so that it's easier to read and accessible to all. Each volume is broken down into an 8-week reading plan that includes daily reading and questions for discussion perfect for classroom or small group use. With wide margins, shorter lines, a larger font size, and engaging illustrations, these books are designed especially for developing readers. In the second book of this series, The Prophets, readers will learn about the covenant spokesmen who presented their messages from the 8th to the 5th centuries BC. The writings are presented in chronological order. This volume includes: Jonah, Amos, Hosea, Micah, Isaiah, Zephaniah, Nahum, Habbakuk, Jeremiah, Obadiah, Ezekiel, Haggai, Zechariah, Joel, and Malachi. The other titles in this series include: NirV, The Books of the Bible: Covenant History: Discover the Beginnings of God's People NirV, The Books of the Bible: The Writings: Learn from Stories, Poetry, and Songs NirV, The Books of the Bible: New Testament: Read the Story of Jesus, His Church, and His Return Mountain Messages Augsburg Fortress Publishing

God gave man the breath of life, a soul and a spirit that allows the Holy Spirit to commune with man. Genesis 2:7 reads, "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man became a living Soul." Man was created with both a physical body and a spiritual body. The spiritual body lives forever and is composed of both a soul and a spirit. At the center of the soul is the spirit that lives forever for the purpose of worshiping, praising, and thanking him for the gift of eternal life through his Son, Jesus Christ. Luke 1:46-47 reads, "And Mary said, 'My soul doth magnify the Lord, And my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Savior.'" Since the time Adam was created, God has been communicating with man in many different ways and through many different people and angels. Men and women have been given a physical body that is miraculous in many ways, but fragile and vulnerable to disease and sin. Our time here on earth is short and can end at any moment. We need to begin by listening to his messengers.

The end-time events are unfolding before our eyes, even as thick darkness is hovering over the earth. Therefore, this book is written to awaken believers to rise up to their purpose. There are people who shall never surrender to the enemy; those who shall soon confront the darkness of this time and push it back, irrespective of how thick it might be. These are God's Messengers of Fire, who shall demonstrate the love of God that surpasses understanding. If you are one of those that are reading this book, be assured, that you are one of the soldiers of the cross that shall soon arise. Perfect love casts out all fears.

Glory in the Mountains is not about me or any other earthly person or persons. Many people are mentioned in this book, but the book is about God and what He has done in and through my life and in the life of others. I could write volumes about the times I have failed, gone the wrong direction and made bad decisions. God always does the right thing in the right way at the right time. He never fails. In my journey, His voice has been like the sounds of many waters. At times, it's peaceful and serene, then furious and demanding. That voice has been a source of strength for me through the years. I hope this little book will help someone stop and listen to His voice.

The Messenger is a detailed study on the life and ministry of John the Baptist, including many important topics and considerations for the developing servant of the Lord. Throughout the book, Rev. Steward draws many valuable lessons from the life of the prophet - essentially how he became one of the greatest men ever born! His life and ministry help us understand that God not only carefully chooses His messengers, but He also plans their lives and forms them into vessels that He can use.

Tom Reed follows up on his earlier devotionals to highlight the Word of God in Whispers from the Mountain. The devotionals are short and saturated with references from Scripture and extensive commentary to help you walk with the Lord. The book begins by asking you to imagine that there is a knock on your door, and instead of an unwanted salesman or neighbor, it's God. He writes, "God often sent angels as messengers to convey an important message. The angel, Gabriel, was sent from God to visit a virgin named Mary, and coming in, he said to her, 'Greetings, favored one! The Lord is with you.'" (Luke 1:26-28) "Sometimes God talks directly to Man. God and Moses had their first conversation through a burning bush. God and the soon to be great prophet, Isiah, had a conversation without an angel or bush. Then I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, "Whom shall I send and who will go for Us?" Then I said, "Here I am. Send me!" (IS 6:8). The emphasis of the book are the pillars of Christianity, with ten devotionals under each pillar. A tenth section titled "Stones" serves as a catch-all to recognize other potential pillars. By using this book in tandem with your personal Bible, you'll be encouraged to dig deeper into God's Word, paving the way to develop a stronger bond and closer relationship with Him.

The charred steel girders of the World Trade towers, a nuclear explosion, storms and tsunamis, a beautiful woman, an ancient prophecy, and a government that wants to discredit him... Paolo DeLaurentis has the prophetic gift of Nostradamus and is haunted by visions foretelling catastrophic events. Does he possess a gift or a curse? Is it the beginning of the dystopian era? 1963, a third grade boy, Paolo gets sick. His parents, doctor, and a priest watch in awe as the child lies in a cold bath at death's door. He is enveloped in a globe of white light and recovers. Two years later, Paolo awakens from a dream of a woman-the love of his life. He won't meet her for another thirty years, and the dream is forgotten when another vision-the tragic deaths of two of his friends—comes true. After college, a desire deep within Paolo beckons him to travel to his grandfather's village of Ottati, Italy. This begins Paolo's quest to find life's balance of love, tragedy, forgiveness, and identity. Despite lingering threats from his nemesis, NSC director Doctor Colin Payne—a high-ranking government official—Paolo combines what he learned in Italy with his gift of prescience to become a wealthy businessman, charismatic leader, husband, and father. He finds the woman from his dreams and their love is so powerful it just might change the world. Paolo is generous with his financial and spiritual wealth as he lives his life searching for beauty and truth. But when his visions of tragedy escalate, will he be able to warn the world in time? Book Review: A tightly written novel about a modern-day Messiah. —Kirkus Reviews In DiVerniero's debut, sensitive, introspective Paolo DeLaurentis has had clairvoyant dreams and visions since he was a small child. His strange talents seem to come and go, and the rest of his working-class Italian family doesn't need such powers to predict a gloomy future for humanity: "[T]he people of our country are headed on a path of destruction," his father warns. "Drugs, money, no morals—evil is lurking." When that future arrives, it finds wealthy, charismatic 39-year-old Paolo a phenomenally successful businessman, president and founder of Ottati Consulting Ltd. It also finds him being carefully watched by Dr. Payne, who was among the first to examine Paolo's extrasensory powers when he was a child, and who has monitored his development ever since. Paolo is a beneficent businessman, and he's a source of support and comfort to his friends and family, but when he loses his best friend as well as the love of his life, he gradually comes to understand that he has a higher calling; he sees a dark future approaching humanity, and he wants to help the world avoid it. "I love you," he tells one of the many large audiences for speeches he regularly gives, "and ask that The love you have inside of you be released from the prison of evil and given to your fellow man." Payne, on the other hand, wants to use Paolo's powers for personal gain and world domination (although, in one of the book's more amusing threads, Paolo is never fooled by Payne, offhandedly calling him a "scumbag" to anybody who'll listen). DiVerniero skillfully handles the plot, increasing the pace of events. Paolo, though unfailingly perfect, is never boring, and the numerous characters are portrayed with individuality and humor. In particular, the reverence and affection Paolo's family and friends feel for him is effectively evoked. The climax is smartly bittersweet -- Kirkus Reviews

Thomas Merton: God's Messenger on the Road towards a New World Createspace Independent Publishing Platform

"God's Messenger is a new biography of the North German missionary Rev. J. F. Riemenschneider, who settled in the Taranaki region in the first half of the nineteenth century. The book places him into the historical and social context, which not only illuminates his life and work, but throws new light on aspects of nineteenth century New Zealand history. The book outlines Riemenschneider's upbringing in North Germany, his arrival in New Zealand and setting up of a missionary station in Taranaki, rifts between the missionary and his people, his exile from Taranaki and setting up in Otago." -- Publisher.

Are you on a mission, with a vision or a dream, and your mission is proving difficult and discouraging? Are you thinking of throwing in the towel and walk away from your mission because of difficult encounters? Do you feel you are not getting the needed help to fulfill your life's mission? If your answers are yes to these questions, then you are the reason God inspired and directed the writing of this book. DEALING WITH YOUR MOUNTAINS: SECRETS TO OVERCOMING LIFE'S CHALLENGES, is a book of answers and solutions to difficulties and challenges on the way to fulfilling your mission in life. As a man, or a woman on a mission, there is no problem, adversity, pain, trouble, trial, battle, or any other life's challenge you are faced with or experiencing that God does not know about; as a matter of fact He is there with you most of the times. And the good news is that God never meant any of these adverse and challenging situations to overwhelm, intimidate, and overcome you. Far be it from God, whose plan for you are the plans of good and not of evil, to intend these problems of life to terminate your mission, or your life on the earth. Don't be afraid of those giants, they are bread for you, for their defence is gone from them, and the Lord your God is with you. Every problem in your life as a child of God has expiration date. How do I know that? The word of God says so, and a host of other people has found it so. Weeping may go on all night, but joy comes with the morning. If you follow the secrets (truths and wisdom) shared in this book, your morning of joy and victory will soon come and that night of weeping will soon end. Any time you are faced with any of these mountainous problems, don't be discouraged or afraid, don't be confused or disoriented, and don't allow thoughts of despair and suicide-for all that is for cowards and losers. But you are neither a coward nor a loser; you are a warrior and a winner! In the face of such mountains, lift up your eyes to the mountain of God, from where comes your help, and God will come through for you to make you go over and not under. Remember, God is a very present Help in trouble. There is no mountain that you will ever encounter on your way of destiny that Jesus has not overcome, only trust in Him. And because He overcame, you too shall overcome them all.

God's Messengers From the Mountains is the book that I have used to attempt to chart the course of Baptist work in Tennessee, North Georgia, and North Carolina. I have written some information about some of the men who have demonstrated deep dedication to their call from the eternal God to preach the Gospel. It is my hope and prayer that this book will indeed bring glory and honor to God as we remember these people who have demonstrated pungent conviction doing the work of the Kingdom.

A messenger's duty is to care for and protect the god they've been assigned to. In order to complete these tasks, such messengers require wings. Shin, however, can't fly. His tiny, useless wings make him the target of ridicule and scorn among the other messengers and have kept him from being able to serve a god... until now. Determined to prove himself as a capable messenger despite his flightlessness, Shin accepts his assignment to a mysterious being on one of the nearby mountains. At first, it seems an easy task to keep his charge safe and happy — especially when the deity in question is just a cute, fluffy ball of fur. But things aren't always what they seem. Recently, messengers flying over the strange god's mountain have been disappearing. Even as suspicion mounts against his deity, Shin just can't bring himself to think that such a gentle god could have a dark side. It's strange, but for some reason... the mysterious, fluffy being feels so familiar to him.

Thomas Merton: God's Messenger on the Road towards a New World highlights the contribution of the best-selling North American writer between the Second World War and 1968. The Cistercian monk called people to act justly, love kindness, and walk humbly. By his critique of technology, a major impediment for people to follow Jesus; by his writing on contemplative prayer; by his interfaith outreach; and through his witness against racism, war, and degradation of nature, Merton still matters. This book uses Micah 6:8 to organize Merton's focus on justice, lovingkindness, and humility, as well as his dialogue with Rachel Carson, Ernesto Cardinal, Gandhi, Martin Luther King, Jr., Thich Nhat Hahn, and others.

Famed naturalist John Muir (1838-1914) came to Wisconsin as a boy and studied at the University of Wisconsin. He first came to California in 1868 and devoted six years to the study of the Yosemite Valley. After work in Nevada, Utah, and Colorado, he returned to California in 1880 and made the state his home. One of the heroes of America's conservation movement, Muir deserves much of the credit for making the Yosemite Valley a protected national park and for alerting Americans to the need to protect this and other natural wonders. The mountains of California (1894) is his book length tribute to the beauties of the Sierras. He recounts not only his own journeys by foot through the mountains, glaciers, forests, and valleys, but also the geological and natural history of the region, ranging from the history of glaciers, the patterns of tree growth, and the daily life of animals and insects. While Yosemite naturally receives great attention, Muir also expounds on less well known beauty spots.

Everyone likes the view from the mountaintop. It is easy to believe that God is with us when things are going well. But what happens when we have to travel through the valley and we are faced with heartache, sickness, disappointment, and tragedy. What do we do then? Do we look to God for victory in the valleys? Here is the good news. Your battle is the Lord's. Yes, you are in the battle too. Your valley is your valley, but you are not alone. We have a God who loves us and delivers us, a God who can propel us in dramatic fashion into the tangible realm of His divine provision. It is never too dark that He cannot see, nor too far that He cannot reach us in our valleys.

Mountains are spectacular, picturesque and common subjects in art and literature. Even the authors of the Bible were enamored with the mountains. The Middle East is not quite so famous for its mountains but the Bible contains over 542 references to mountains! They are quite common as figurative symbols in literature as well as specific key geographic locations. The Bible begins with the creation account (first mention of mountains in Genesis 7) and ends with Revelation with Christ's return where He is standing on the Mount of Olives outside of Jerusalem. Famous and well-known events are recorded at specific mountain sites such as Mount Ararat, Carmel, or Mount Sinai. Then there are mentions of obscure mountains like Mount Zemaraim or Perazim where notable meetings or battles or events occurred. Mountains can also be used to represent features or characteristics such as obstacles or the permanence/steadfastness/immovable nature of something, or national governments and kingdoms. This devotional book is a look at 100 mountain passages in the Bible. It is not a complete study of the mountains in the Bible. It is not a book on geography, geology, or archaeology. The real purpose of these devotions is to learn how mountains were a significant part of the Biblical landscape and what they can teach us about God and His character. Instead of merely looking at their physical beauty, we can look at them and recall God's beauty, His character and most of all His love for us. My prayer is that this will lead you to praise His name - with all creation and with all you got!
